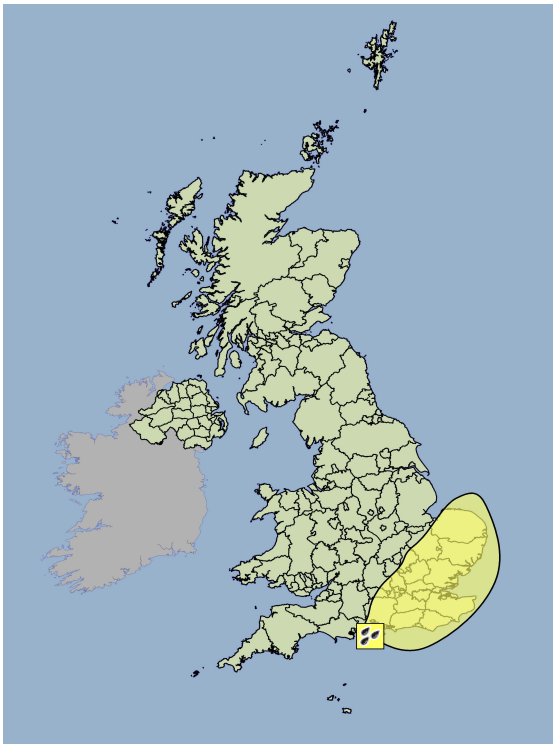
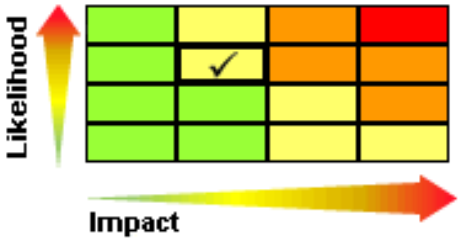
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A waving cold front will lie across the area for much of the day, with more than 20 mm of rain expected in places. Given the wetter than average weather of late, these totals bring the risk of flooding in places.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 03:00 on Sun, 23rd Nov 2014 until 21:00 on Sun, 23rd Nov 2014

Rain will be persistent and locally heavy through much of Sunday. Falling on saturated ground, it is likely to cause flooding in places before clearing eastwards. The public should be aware of this hazard.

The warning has now been extended westwards.
